DETAILED ACTION

This office action is in response to the amendment of October 18, 2005. In making the below rejections the examiner has considered and addressed each of the applicants arguments.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Danfoss (UK 1,119,710).

Danfoss discloses a suction and discharge valve for a small hermetic compressor of the piston and cylinder type. As shown in Fig. 3 there is a valve plate (6) which comprises a discharge orifice (7) centralized with respect to an axial projection of the cylinder (1) and a suction orifice (9) disposed internal to the axial projection of the cylinder and external to the contour of the discharge orifice (note Figs. 4 and 5).

The examiner notes that the details of the compressor and the arrangement of the suction pipe therewith are set forth in the preamble and do not limit the suction and discharge valve arrangement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Iversen et al (USPN 6,280,153) in view of Lee (USPN 5,577,898).

Iverson et al discloses a suction and discharge valve arrangement for a hermetic compressor having a valve plate (7) which is connected to a suction pipe (3) disposed adjacent to the valve plate. The valve plate having a suction orifice (25 in Fig. 3) which communicates between the suction pipe and the compression space and has a transition portion (near 31) incorporated into the valve plate which has a cross section configured to impart to the gas flow (see arrows near 42, 44) a change of direction which allows the whole cross sectional area of the suction orifice to be used (see area near 26). Iverson et al does not specifically note that the compressor is a reciprocating compressor having a discharge orifice in the valve plate and the suction pipe being orthogonal to the cylinder axis. Iverson et al does refer to a compressor having the above construction at col. 1 and lines 10-12. At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the teaching of Iverson et al in order to eliminate undesirable recirculation flows (note the abstract of Iverson et al).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-10 are allowed.

Claims 11 and 12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11 and 14 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
